Having again carefully examined the provisions of the Cincinnati above the provisions of the Cincinnati railroad bill now pending before the Kentucky Legislature, we desire to recall attention to some of its most obnoxious features.

The board of trustees created by the act of the General Assembly of Ohio, it is claimed, is not a corporation in any sense of that word. They are simply, it is urged, trustees, invested with power to borrow money on the credit of Cincinnati and with the proceeds to construct a railway with the proceeds to construct a railway. To create the provisions of the Ohio constitution the Legislature of that State created a board of trustees, and allows the city of Ciacinnati, unconnected with any corporation, to embark in an immense railroad enterprise in other States.

Nor does the bill before the Kentucky Legislature propose to create a corporation, but it asks for these trustees the privilege, under certain restrictions, to enter upon the soil of Kentucky and build a railway the soil of Kentucky and build a railway the soil of Kentucky Legislature fact the provision in it, and then she will labored the content of the content o such a provision in it, and then she will laugh at the idea that the Kentucky Legislature gave it serious consideration.

ROUND-ABOUT.

The Baries Ship Canal.

The departure of the Government expedition to survey the route of this great work gives positive proof of the commencement of an undertaking which, if successful, will make wonderful changes in the commercial and marine interests of the world. The officers in charge of the surveying party are men of inchigence, capacity and energy. They will le we nothing undoes to obtain any information that will be of value as relating to the route of the canal. No difficulty is smitcipated in obtaining from the Colombian Congress the passage of a bill granting the right of way.

The report of the officer commanding the experience of the officer commanding the experience of the surveys named in his instructions, will be a very interesting document, and, in the meanwhile, the progress of his party will attract unusual interest.

Classical Music.

The growing taste for the highest class of music has created a demand for the best editions of the works of the best composers. The difficulty of obtaining carefully-edited editions is now obviated. Litoff's library of classical music, embracing the principal works of Becthoven, Mozart, Haydn. Schubert, Bach, Weber, Clementinl, Dussek, Gluck, Handel, Roseini, Beilini, Donizetti, Bolidieu, and Heroid are now to be had here. These editions are in every respect—printing, paper, correctness, etc.—first-class, and, at the medient of the best of the best commendable enterprise by importing the valuable and celebrated works of the most.

fore equaled. The President and his Cabinet and certain Senators are living in a style of imperial luxury which the patry salaries they receive do not begin to warrant. There is no difficulty in ascertaining where the money comes from to support all of this magnificance. The President's salary would not pay his wife's millicery and confectionery bills. The carriages and horses in the stables of the White House could not be bought for his surefusable. The historicans was of the

these sediments in the female character more or less, and as the current of life runs smoothor less, and as the current of life runs smoothor less, and as the current of life runs smoothor less, and as the current of life runs smoothor less, and as the current of life runs smooth-er with them, at least for a time, they can talk upon some other subject than the ever-lasting one of sweethearts, beaux, and mat-rimony. There is a subdued softness of deonly. There is a subdued softness of de-nor, too, in the young matron which the e of the season does not have. The ex-ration and excitement incident to a suc-ful career as a young girl, which calmi-is in what is called the "insolence of beauty," is not visible in the manner of the belle retired from business—the young matron. The more charming/married ladies dispel the gloom incident to a dreary wilderness of numarried ones by "going out," the more delightful society will be.

Methodist Episcopal Church South.
Sundry Petitions were received and properyreferred.

A Scenate bill for the benedt of the State Agricultural Society—appropriates $5,000 annually for three years—and an amendment, by vary of substitute, which proposes that it is not a substitute of the proposes that it is not a substitute of the proposes that it is not a substitute of the proposes that it is not a substitute was adopted—yeas 25, nays 6.

Mr. Holt, from Ecrollinents, made lefts repert, and the Speaker signed the sams.

An act for the benoalt of Newton Crair. Rejected for want of the constitutional majority. Mr. Spatiding moved to reconsider said rejection, which was done. This bill elicited much discussion, its provisions having for their object the sudding and settling of certain clamate the substitute of the substitute of the substitute of the policy of the policy of the state as a former keeper of the penitentary. The bill was then placed in an amendable attitude, and Mr. Lindsay moved to amend by striking from the commission to whom this question was to be submitted the names of D. Howard Smith, James W. Tate, and S. B. Churchill, and adding thereto the names of D. Howard Smith, James W. Tate, and S. B. Churchill, and that their action be under oath. Mr. Bradley moved to, so amend as to require the commissioners to report the result of their investigations to the Greenal Assen.

in the event of a favorable report.

Mr. J. W. Johnson moved that the bill and pending amendment be referred to a committee of five Senators. The previous question was then ordered. Mr. J. W. Johnson's motion was rejected by the following vote:

YEAS—Mesers. Speaker (Leslie), Affison, Bloyd, Bradley, Conkin, Connor, Cooke, Hawes, J. W. Johnson, Lyttie, Vories, Windows, J. W. Johnson, Lyttie, Vories, Windows, J. W. 2.500 00 $15,680 00

In regard to the merits of this book, we have nothing to say, but if Mr. Delano will compel manufacturers and dealers to buy is, he should fit the price at $1.00per copy. Responsible parties here stand ready to furnish the book at this price, so there need be no controversy on that point.

We have no doubt, now that the attention of the Commiscioner of Internal Revenue has by the measures to protect the public against this imposition. Meantime dealers should refuse to purchase the book.

It is manifest that if the Government prescribes blanks to be used by any class of people who pay taxes, it should furnish them free, or at least at a price not higher than the cost of production. To require people to pay a profit on these blanks of two and a quarter milition, to a New York or any other ring, would be an outrage noon the public and a diagrace to the Internal Revenue D-part ment.

old contract and the chargest generally in the General Chas ordered that a descalament of the regiment now at Taylor Barracks be held in readines to act as an except of the remains from the boat to the cemetery.

There was a meeting of the soldiers who served under Gen. Rouseau, at Bock's Hall hast evening at 8 o'clock, to make arrangements for a proper reception. Cel. L. T. Thustin was called to the chair and Capt. R. W. Johnstone made accretary. The chairman stated the object of the meeting, when Capt. Johnstone moved that a committee be speototed to secure a hall is which the remains should lie in state, and make such other arrangements as may be necessary for a proper manifestation of respect on the part of the General's old soldiers. Col. Bramiett, s. conded the motion and spoke in regard to the lift, and character of the deceased, pronouncing a fitting color. The motion was stoped, when the chair appointed Major Huber, Major Far.'s Capt. Speed, Capt. Houston, M. jor Po accay, and Capt. Johnstone as the committee.

It was anounced that the remains of General Wattins would arrive on the same boat with those of General Rouseaus, when the co-mmittee was instructed to make the same preparat anders or the first them as they did for those of General Rouseaus, when the co-mmittee was instructed to make the same preparat and or the first than as they did for those of General Rouseaus, when the co-mmittee was instructed to make the same preparat and the first than as they did for those of General Rouseaus. those of General Roussean, when the committee was instructed to make the same preparation for receiving them as they did for those of Grantenton of doing honor to the memory of their old and honored commander, and this feeling is also shared by the citizens generally. The remains will the in state, probably at the currence, for forty-eight hours, when a public funcial will take place. He will be buried at Cave Bill Cemetery.

[From the N. Y. Fribune.]

Necessity is the master of as all. A f. may be as siremous for deep plowing as—may firmly believe that the soil about thoroughly broken up and pulverised depth of inteen to thirty inches, according the crop; but, if all the icam he say mu is a yoke of thirt, light steers, or a span of yrayined house, which is our oldest Status, and the service of the service well that many farms are now so rough and otherwise so ansulted to solling as to preclude its adoption thereon for many years to come.

Let me indicate what I mean by good farming, through an itastration drawn from the Great West:

All over the settled portions of the Valley of the Upper Mississippi and the Missouri there are large and simil herds of cattle, that are provided with little or no shelter. The less of a fence or stack, the partial protection of a young and feafless wood, they may shane to enjoy, but that it is a rainous waste to loave them a pray to biting frosts and pièrcing northwesters their owners seem not to combine where the settle of the seem of the settle of head of the pound between the lets of form at the six of hay to berds of cattle that will not be one pound between on the lat of least May than they were on the lat of least May than they were on the lat of least May than they were on the lat of least May than they were on the lat of least May than they were on the lat of least May than they were on the lat of least May than they were on the lat of least May than they were on the lat of least May than they were on the lat of least May than they were on the lat of least May than they were on the lat of least May than they were set and the fooder mercely to preserve find vitality and escape freezing to pound busivier on the lat of next May than they were on the lat of last Becember—who will have required that fooder merely to preserve finer vitality and escape freezing to exert. It has mainly been employed, as fuel rather than as nourishment, and has served, not to put on firsh, but to keep out frost. Now I am familiar with the excuses for this waste, but they do not satisfy me. The poorcast pioneer might have built for his one cow a rade shelter of stakes and poles, and straw or prairie-grass, if he had realized its importance, simply in the light of economy. He who has many exitle is rarely without both straw and timber, and might shelter his stock abundantly if he only would. Nay: he could not have neglected or omitted it if he had clearly understood that his exit the must somehow be supplied with heat, and that he can far cheaper warm them from witsout than from without the first of the state of these control of the heat of cood farming as these, and it has a behalf of cood farming as these, and it has a more them.
